Freshen never more to fade;
Where the shaded sky shall lighten—
Brighten never more to lade;
Where the sun blaze never flashes;
Where the star beams cease to chill:
Where no tempest stirs the meshes,
Of the wood, or waive, or hill
Where the morn shall wake gladness,
And the noon the joy prolong;
Where the daylight dies in trance,
'Mid the bursts of holy song
Brother, we shall meet and rest,
'Mid the holy and the blest!

Where the shadow shall be will
Where life's vain parade is o
Where the sleep of sin is broke
And the dreamer dreams no mo;
Where the bona is never sever—
Partings, claspings, sob and ban;
Midnight waking, twilight weag,
Heavy noontide—all are done
Where the child has found his mother,
Where the mother finds the ch,
Where dear families are gather
That were scattered on the w;
Brother, we shall meet and rest,
'Mid the holy and the blest!

Where the hidden wound is heal
Where the blighted life re-bloo,
Where the smitten heart the freeze
Of its buoyant youth resumes:
Where the love that bore we lavis,
On the withering leaves of tim
In an ever spring-bright clime,
Where we find the joy of loving,
As we never loved before—
Shall have fadeless flowers to fix
Loving on, unchill'd, unhindered,
Loving once and evermore!
Brother, we shall meet and rest,
'Mid the holy and the bl!

Were a blasted world shall bright,
Underneath a bluer sphere,
And a softer, gentler sunshine
Shed its healing splendor here:
Where earth's barren vales shall bassm,
Putting on their robe of green,
And a purer, fairer Eden
Be where only wastes have been;
Where a King in Kingly Glory,
Such as earth has never known,
Shall assume the righteous sceptre,
Claim and wear the Holy crown.
Brother, we shall meet at rest,
'Mid the holy and the blest

AN ADVENTURE IN INDIA.

"Your turn now, captain," was the exclamation of several parties, who were seted around the convivial board, telling stories narrating adventures, singing songs, and drinking each other's health.

"What will you have, gentlemen?" inquired Captain S——, a small, wiry man of middle age, who had seen service in India.

"Oh, one of your most thrilling adventures," said one of the party; "for surely you must have had some, while stationed in that wild region which is said to teem with them"

"Ah! very well, gentleman—I remember one that I think will interest you, and here you have it. It was in the year 183—, that I joined my regiment, as a sub, at Bangalore, and not being used to such a climate, where the mercury runs up to 110 degs. in the spring with no idea of coming down again until autumn, I soon found myself an invalid, and almost cursed the day that I had been tempted to leave cool old England for such a sweltering country. Some of my friends advised a trip to the Malabar coast, and I was nothing loth to try any change, believing even the worst I could possibly make must be for the better. So I procured a palanquin, and eight good bearers, to take a turn about, and set off forthwith, through a wild a country as poor mortal could wish to see.

"Nothing remarkable happened till we entered what is known as the Wynard Jungle; and if nothing had happened there I should have been tempted to indite the whole country as a libel on appearances. Such a jungle as that may I never behold again! Reeds, weeds, grass, bramble, and bushes were interlaced like a network beneath gigantic trees of teak, whose bows interlocked and canopied the whole, so that in many places the bright sunshine of heaven never penetrated to the earth; as I was borne along in my palanquin, on the shoulders of four timid coolies, while the other four walked leisurely behind, I had the satisfaction of knowing I was in a perfect wilderness, inhabited by wild elephants, wild boars, tigers, leopards, hyenas, jackals, and any number of deadly reptiles, and that if we were attacked by any ferocious beast, I should probably be deserted on the instant and left to take care of myself. And then fancy me at night, with all these howling beasts around me, attempting to sleep, amid all the poisonous exhalations of a malarious region, with millions of of musquitoes, moths and bugs, humming, buzzing, and perforating every pore of my body, and you will form some faint idea of the pleasures of a sick man's journey.

"Well, one hot, sultry afternoon, when we had reached somewhere near the heart of this jungle, as I was leaning back on the seat of my palanquin, and dreamily listening to the drowsy, monotonous song of the bearers, I was suddenly roused and startled by two or three hoarse trumpet blasts, which proceeded from a wild elephant, who was crashing through the jungle at no great distance; but before I had time for a word, my attendants dropped me without ceremony, and betook themselves to flight. I leaped to my feet, with a kind of delirious strength, and, knowing there was not a minute between me and eternity, if I remained where I was then, I plunged into the copse, and ran like a madman in the the direction opposite to the sounds of my advancing foe.

"Fortunately for me, I was only a few seconds in reaching the foot of a large teak tree, up which I began to climb as only a man may climb for life. I heard the monster crushing down the bushes, and making the very earth tremble under his powerful tread, and I went up, up, up, faster than I ever climbed a tree before or ever shall again, with every stitch of clothes upon me completely saturated with the perspiration wrung from me in an agony of fear—not so much the natural fear of death itself, as the instinctive fear of such a death.

"I think the animal must have turned from a direct course before espying me; for though close upon me, as I supposed, when I began to climb, I had succeeded in reaching the first limb, at least some thirty feet from the earth, when he made his appearance at the foot of the tree, snorting and bellowing in the most terrific manner. Seeing me beyond his reach, he lashed himself into a perfect fury, his comparatively small, pig like eyes shooting gleams of fire as he cast them upwards in his disappointed rage. Then laying hold of the tree with his trunk, he tried his strength in shaking it; but as it was too heavy for him to endanger my position by that means, he soon relinquished it for another. Quietly stepping back a few paces, he measured his ground; and then with a sudden bound forward, he struck the tree a tremendous blow with his head and tusks. I was watching him closely, but only barely comprehended his design in time to throw my arms and legs around a limb, and brace myself for the shock. Nor was I at all too well prepared; for the concussion bruised me considerable, and it seemed to me as if a few pounds more force must have sent me clean from off my perch.

"But my enemy was not done yet. Stepping back and looking up at me with an expression that seemed to inquire what I thought of it, at the same time that he would assure me of its being only the beginning of his battering operations, he returned to the charge with increased vigor. But this time I was better prepared for him, and came not so near being unseated as on the first trial. Nothing discouraged, he retreated still further, and then came down like an avalanche. It was terrible. I had twined and braced myself in every possible manner; but when he struck, it seemed as if the concussion, after first bruising me, and almost knocking the breath from my body, relaxed every nerve.—Doubtless, I should have fallen to the earth below, only that I was pretty securely balanced in the tree, and, having resisted the main shock, had now no difficulty in retaining an upright position.

"On again looking down at the elephant, I was surprised to see him with his head fast against the tree, lashing his tail, pawing the earth, and uttering a sort of moaning, bellowing sound, altogether not unlike a vicious bull when about to make an attack. I did not at first comprehend what had occurred, but supposed his actions to result from the anger of disappointment in not being able to bring me to the ground. But I soon had cause for rejoicing rather than fear. His last charge had been made with so much force, as to imbed his long ivory tusks in the tree, and he was now a prisoner to his own brute strength. In vain he pulled and wrenched, moaned, bellowed, and lashed himself into a perfect fury. There he was, a fast prisoner—caught, as one might say, in his own trap—and if ever a poor mortal was justified in rejoicing over the misfortunes of a living creature, I think that individual was myself.

"But I was still a prisoner also. How was I to get down? and how make my escape when down? True, the elephant might not be able to liberate himself in time to do me any injury; but I already knew enough of the terrrible jungle to feel little inclination to set off through it alone. There were many intricate paths branching off from the main one, over which I had been borne, and the mistake of taking any one of these would almost certainly be fatal—resulting in death from starvation through being lost, or death from some one of the thousand other surrounding perils. What should I do? It was reasonable to hope that some of my attendants would sooner or later, return to learn the fate of their master; and before venturing on anything rash, I resolved to wait a proper time for them.

"Drearily passed the next three hours that I remained upon my giddy perch, above the imprisoned beast, looking off upon an undulating sea of matted folinge, with the hot sun of that tropical climate pouring down upon me its scorching rays, and almost stifling me with its feverish heat. How eagerly I turned my eyes in every direction, in the hope of getting a glimpse of one of my attendants, to whom I could make known my situation. No human being was in sight, and my wildest shouts brought no reply. should I remain were I was, or descend? We were, as I knew, almost a half a day's journey from any settlement, and it would therefore be impossible for me to reach a habitation before nightfall, even should I be fortunate enough to follow the nearest path, while a single mistake would leave me to perish in that awful solitude. I decided, therefore, to remain where I was, either till the sun of another day, or till I should see at least one human being capable of acting as a guide

"The sun was rapidly nearing the Western horizon, and I was despairing of any succor that day, when my attention was attracted to a commotion in the jungle, some quarter of a mile distant. Birds of various kinds flew up screaming, and either hovered over the spot in anger, or darted quickly away in fear, and I could catch glimpses of the deer, the elk, and the buffalo, bounding off in every direction.—What could be the cause of this disturbance? Was it some one or more of my attendants returning to ascertain my fate? Man, I knew was almost universally feared by the wild, feathered tribe of the wilderness and the animals of the brute creation, and in man was now my hope. Wildly did my heart beat, and eagerly did I strain my eyes to catch a view of my deliverer.

"The line of commotion advanced slowly, but still I could not be certain of the cause. Nearer and nearer it gradually came, till at last I felt a cold thrill of terror pass through my frame, as I suddenly caught a glimpse of the sleek, spotted hide of a royal tiger, slowly and softly making his way through the jungle directly towards the tree upon which I was perched.—I looked down at the elephant, and perceived that by some peculiar faculty or instinct he was already aware of his danger. He was standing perfectly still, no longer making an effort to release himself, but I could see the skin of his broad back quiver, as if every nerve of his body were effected.

"The tiger gradually drew near

A Glance at the Times.

A very few days ago our country seemed in the midst of prosperity almost without a parallel. Everything looked bright for the future.—We have abundant crops, good markets at fair prices and general health throughout the country. There was no reason that could be divined why a recurrence of the times of 1857 should sweep o'er our land—no cause why a financial panic should be brought about. Notwithstanding all this, owing entirely to political causes, the nature of which we propose to glance at, our country is startled by Bank suspensions, rapid decline in stocks, extreme tightness in money matters, prostrating for the time old and stable institutions—always, and now, regarded as perfectly solvent—and all the excitement of a money panic seizes the public mind. What political difficulty has brought on this trouble? because all agree that there is no occasion at this time for a money panic. This is not a crisis brought about by over-tradiny or any extensive abuse of credit, which causes led to the crisis of three years ago. Our country had began to recover from that shock. Those not able to stand up under the difficulties which came upon them then, went down, and those who suspended temporarily, resumed.

The present suspensions of Northern banks and decline in Northern stocks, is owing wholy to the action of our Southern brethren, and while we do not intend to indulge in reproaches against them at this time, in the midst of difficulties created by their own folly, we desire to advert briefly to the reasons given for the course pursued by certain party leaders—ambitious, bad men, of the cotton States, whose only motto seems "rule or ruin." That there have been a few individuals, of the class above referred to, in the far Southern States, who were desirous to see this glorious Union dissolved, for the purpose of starting a Southern Confederacy, we full well know, but until this time all their efforts in that way produced no effect on the popular sentiment, either North or South, which was "The Union, it must and shall be preserved." The election of Mr. Lincoln is seized on by these persons as a pretext and stated to be a cause for the breaking up of the States. That the election of a President, strictly in the manner provided for in the Constitution, under the principle that the will of the majority shall prevail, should produce consequences such as these, is a new feature in our country's history. Without waiting for the President elect to be inaugurated, or to make one move in any manner interfering with the Constitutional privileges or rights—without giving him a chance—a portion of the Southern people, or rather self-constituted representatives claiming to act for the people, declare this cause for secession, and boldly proclaim their right to secede.

In this they are clearly wrong. The Constitution of the United States is a compact of the several States—a bond that binds all together. It recognizes no right of one State to secede from the rest—no way in which a dissolution of the Union can be brought about. If South Carolina, or any other State, should resist the collection of the revenue, or in any manner war against her sister States, the Executive of the country should hold the violators of the Constitution guilty of treason against the General Government and treat them accordingly. That the present Chief Magistrate may profit by the example of Jackson we much desire. While we do not recognize the right of the Southern States, or any of them, to resort to measures of this kind, we fully recognize their right to have all laws passed for the benefit of themselves or their property, by the Congress of the United States, carried out in good faith by the Northern States. However objectional the act of Sept. 18, 1860, commonly called the "Fugutive Slave Law," may be to many people of the North, as it is worded, it is the law, and all good citizens should and will obey it. All State enactments in force, that either in letter or spirit seem to conflict or interfere with the power to enforce the Fugutive Slave Law, should be repealed. We see in different Southern exchanges that Pennsylvania is classed as one of the States that has on its Statutes a "personal liberty bill." Pennsylvania has not now nor never had any such law, neither has her legislature passed any act since or during 1850 that could in any manner hinder the execution of the act of Congress of that year. If the act of 1847, or the one section of it, looks that way, we think it should be repealed. That act was passed three years before owing to the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of Prigg against Pennsylvania.

All fair minded men of the North, and especially of this State, recognize the right of the South, under the Constitution, to a fugitive slave law—a law by which they may recapture them. We are not aware that any legislation of this State has ever in any manner had the effect of interfering with the present law of Congress.—If there is any such on our Statute Book, the next legislature should repeal it.

The President elect, by his published speeches in his debate with Judge Douglas in the Illinois campaign of 1858, distinctly gives it as his opinion that the South is entitled to a fugitive slave law, and that the law should be enforced.—Again it is unquestionably true that the States complaining that this slave law is not enforced and hold it good cause for revolution, are so situated that no slave can escape from their limits. The border States, that might complain, do not do so. If South Carolina would observe the sensible plan of minding her own business, we doubt not her people would live more pleasantly and more at ease, and the other States get along full as well.

We trust that a spirit of moderation will pervade the minds of all lovers of our Union, and that we will continue long in the future, as in the eighty years of the past, to be the United States of America, shedding on benign influence of liberty on all the world around.

All reasonable men must agree that there is no cause for a dissolution of the Union or the secession of any State, and certainly as little cause for a financial panic which would involve the country in ruin and distress, situated as we are in 1860.

☞ Godey's Lady's Book for January, 1861, is already on our table. It contains three steel plate engravings and a colored fashion plate superior to any heretofore published in this or any other book, besides innumerable engravings of pattern work, embroidery, &c., which are alone worth the subscription price. With this number Godey's Book enters upon its thirty-first year. We deem it entirely unnecessary to add anything to what we have already said about Godey. We will furnish it to our advance paying subscribers at $2 per annum, which is $1,00 less than they could get it for if they were to send for it themselves.

Nothing but what is really beneficial or interesting appears in the pages of this book. All light reading, which has a demoralizing effect upon the mind of the reader, is eschewed. NON-INTERCOURSE ADVOCATED.—The New Orleans (La.) Delta of the 16th inst. says there is now in that port a ship owned by a Republican politician and member of the Legislature of a Northern State, whose captain recently applied to a well known ship-broker of that city to procure freight for him. The broker informed the captain that his ship might rot at the wharf before he could be accommodated at that port.—The Delta adds. "We hope this example may be followed by others, and that all ships owned by our enemies may be sent out of our port in ballast. Better employ foreign ships than those which are owned by our domestic enemies."

☞ On the 14th inst., John M'Clain, in the fourteenth year of his age. On the 7th, Alvinah M'Clain, aged twelve years, on the same day Margaret M'Clain, aged ten years, and the 16th Mary M'Clain, in her twelfth year. All died of diptheria, and were children of Daniel and Rachel M'Clain, of Hanover township, Washington county. This terrible disease has left but one child in a family of ten, nine of whom have died within about three years.

"Old Hick" on State Rights.

Just at this time when some of the Southern States are kicking their heels because Lincoln has been elected President and are threatening to march out of the Union, it may not be amiss to publish the following extract from Gen. Jackson's proclamation, issued on December 11th, 1832, when nullification and secession was rife in South Carolina, and which he most effectually put down. All that is needed to put down the present agitation is to have a man possessing the aching braveness and inflexible determination of "Old Hickory" in the Presidential Chair. The arguments used by Jackson are unable in the present case and are irrepugnant and must be endorsed by every good citizen in the Union: Gen Jackson said:—

"It would be superfluous to add anything to show the nature of that union which connects us; but, as erroneous opinions on this subject are the founds of doctrines the most destructive to ourice, I must give some further developement to my views on this subject. No one, fellow citizens, has a higher reverence for the reserved rights of the States than the magistrate who now addresses you. No one would make a greater personal sacrifice or official exertions, to defend them from violation; but equal care must be taken to prevent on their part an improper interference with, or resumption of, the rights they've vested in the nation. The line has not been distinctly drawn as to avoid doubts in some cases, of the exercise of power. Men of the best intentions and soundest views may differ in the construction of some parts of the Constitution but there are others on which dispassionate reflection can leave no doubt.—Of this nature are ours to be the assumed right of secession. It rests, as we have seen, on the alleged undivided sovereignty of the States, and of their having formed, in this sovereign capacity, a compact which is called the Constitution, from which because they made it, they have the right to secede. Both of these positions are erroneous, and some of the arguments to prove them have been anticipated.

The States never have not retained their entire sovereignty. It has been shown that, in becoming parts of a nation, not members of a league, they surrender many of their essential parts of sovereignty. The right to make treaties, declare war, levy taxes, exercise exclusive judicial and legislative powers, were all of them functions of sovereign power. The States, then, for all these important purposes, were no longer sovereign. The allegiance of their citizens was transferred in the first instance to the Government of the United States; they became American citizens, owed obedience to the Constitution of the United States, and to laws made in conformity with the powers it vested in Congress. This position has not been, and cannot be denied. How, then, can that State be said to be sovereign and independent, whose citizens owe obedience to laws not made by it, and whose magistrates are sworn to disregard those laws, when they come in conflict with those passed by other? What shows conclusively that the State cannot be said to have reserved an undivided sovereignty, is, that they expressly ceded the right to punish treason—not treason against the separate power, but treason against the united States. Treason is an offence against sovereignty, and sovereignty must reside with the power to punish it. But the reserved rights of the States are not less sacred, because they have, for their common interest, made the General Government the depository of these power The unity of our political character commenced with its very existence.

Under the royal Government we had no separate character; our opposition to its oppressions began as United Colonies. We were the United States under the confederation, and the name was perpetuated and the Union rendered more perfect by the Federal Constitution. In none of these stages did we consider ourselves in any other light than as forming one nation. Treaties and alliance were made in the name of all.—Troops were raised for the joint defence. How, then, with all these proofs, that under all changes of our position we had, for designated purposes, and with defined powers, created national governments—how is it, that the most perfect of these several modes of union should now be considered as a mere league, that may be dissolved at pleasure? It is from an abuse of terms. Compact is used as synonymous with league, although the true term is not employed, because it would at once show the fallacy of the reasoning. It would not do to say that our Constitution was only a league, but it is labored to prove it compact (which, in one sense, it is) and then argue that, as a league is a compact, every compact between nations must, of course, be a league, and that, from such an engagement, every sovereign power has a right to secede. But it has been shown that in this sense the States are not Sovereign, and that, even if they were and the National Constitution had been formed by compact, there would be no right in any or State to exonerate itself from its obligation.

So obvious are the reasons which forbid this secession that it is necessary only to allude to them. The Union was formed for the benefit of all. It was produced by mutual sacrifices of interests and opinions. Can those sacrifices be recalled? Can the State who magnanimously surrendered their title to the territories of the West, recall the grant? Will the inhabitants of the inland States agree to pay the duties that may be imposed without their assent by those on the Atlantic or the Gulf, for their own benefit? None believes that any right exists in a single Sate to involve all the others in these and countless other evils, contrary to engagements solemnly made. Every one must see that the other States, in self-defence, must oppose it at all hazards.

These are the alternatives that are presented by the Convention. A repeal of all the acts for raising revenue, leaving the Government without the means of support; or an acquiescence in the dissolution of our Union by the secession of one of its members. When the first was proposed, it was known that it could not be listened to for a moment. It was known if force was applied to oppose the execution of the laws that it must be repelled by force—that Congress could not, without involving itself in disgrace and the country in ruin, accede to the proposition; and yet if this is not done in a given day, or if any attempt is made to execute the laws, the State is by the ordinance, declared to be out of the Union. The majority of a convention assembled for the purpose, have dictated these terms or rather its rejections of all terms, in the name of the people of South Carolina. It is true that the Governor of the State speaks of the submission of their grievances to a convention of all the States, which he says they "sincerely and anxiously seek and desire." Yet this obvious and constitutional mode of obtaining the sense of the other States on the construction of the Federal compact, and amending it, if necessary, has never been attempted by those who have urged the State on to this destructive measure. The State might have proposed the call for a general convention to the other States; and Congress, if a sufficient number of them concurred, must have called it.—But the magistrate of South Carolina, when he expressed a hope that, "on a review by Congress and the functionaries of the General Government of the merits of the controversy," such a convention will be accorded to them, must have known that neither Congress nor any functionary of the General Government has authority to call such a convention, unless it be demanded by two-thirds of the States. This suggestion, then, is another instance of the reckless inattention to the provision of the Constitution with which this crisis has been madly hurried on; or of the attempt to persuade the people that a constitutional remedy had been sought and refused. If the Legislature of South Carolina "anxiously desire" a general convention to consider their complaints, why have they not made application for it in the way the Constitution points out? The assertion that they earnestly seek it is completely negatived by the omission.

This then is the position in which we stand. A small majority of the citizens of one State in the Union have elected delegates to a State Convention. That convention has ordained that all the revenue laws of the United States must be repealed, or that they are no longer a member of the Union. The Governor of that State has recommended to the Legislature the raising of an army to carry the secession into effect and that he may be empowered to give clearances to vessels in the name of the State No act of violent opposition to the laws has yet been committed, but such a state of things is hourly apprehended; and it is the intent of this instrument to PROCLAIM not only that the duty imposed on me by the Constitution to "take care that the laws be faithfully executed" shall be performed to the extent of the powers already invested in me by law, or of such others as the wisdom of Congress shall devise and entrust to me for that purpose, but to warn the citizens of South Carolina, who have been deluded into opposition to the laws, of the danger they will incur by obedience to the illegal and disorganising ordinance of the convention; to exhort those who have refused to support it to preserve in their determination to uphold the Constitution and the laws of the country—and to point out to all the perilous situation into which the good people of that State have been led to pursue is one of ruin and disgrace to the very State whose right they affect to support.

PHILADELPHIA BANK SUSPENSION.—A telegram from Philadelphia says: The action of the Bank Presidents in suspending specie payment in the present exigency, is regarded with favor by the business men and the press; in having been determined upon as a precautionary measure to enable the banks to expand their discounts, and prevent the scenes which attended the panic of 1857. An immediate meeting of the State Legislature is suggested, for the double purpose of relieving the banks from the operations of the banking laws, and considering the legislation of the fugutive slave law. The bank of Chester County will suspend to-day. Financial editors express the opinion that the condition of affairs yesterday afternoon give evidence of a healthy state of trade. There was more cheerfulness among business men, and more discounting done by the Banks, than any other day for the last two weeks The Banks are manifesting every disposition to accommodate. No failures are reported. The quotations for specie are 3@5 per cent., the latter for small purchases.

HOW TEXAS IS FIXED.—The progress of the Secession movement meets with an obstacle in the fact that Texas cannot call a state convention, as her legislature does not meet for fifteen months. Therefore Texas cannot go out of the Union at present. Governor Houston will not call an extra session for the purpose of secession. Senator Wigfall, it is said, will retain his seat in the Senate. Should he resign, as it was reported that he would do, Gov. Houston would fill his place with a Union man.

☞ The second session of the 36th Congress will commence on next Monday, the 3d day of December, and terminate by constitutional limitation on the 4th of March.

PEN AND SCISSORS.

☞ A wife's farewell to her husband, every morning—"Buy, buy."

☞ The Presidential electoral colleges of the several States assemble on the first Wednesday in December.

☞ At Occoquan, Va., where a Lincoln pole was cut down, Lincoln had 58 majority over his three competitors.

☞ Green corn, beans, radishes, and the general run of early vegetables, are in the market again, from the second crop, at Brownsville, Texas.

☞ A young lady at Niagara was heard to exclaim, "What an elegant trimming that rainbow would make for a white lace over dress." What a poetical idea.

☞ Two Indiana Methodist Churches lately deducted one-fourth of their ministers' salaries because they had been ill two months.

☞ A lady in Belleville, Canada West, last Wednesday week, had five cancers cut from her breast during one operation. Three years ago she had a similar operation performed.

☞ The Minnesota people not liking the government sale of lands, hit upon the expedient of advancing five cents an acre on their bids, bidding so slowly that one quarter section was only knocked down in a day. At this rate there is no chance of sale.

☞ Twenty-one wagon-loads of fish were taken at one haul, at Cape Island, New Jersey, on Friday, by four fishermen. They were sold to a farmer for manure at $1 a thousand, there being no railway to bring them to market.

☞ One firm at Madison, Indiana, has engaged 40,000 hogs. Packing will commence there about the 16th inst A packer at Lafayette, Indiana, has made preparations for killing from 10,000 to 12,000 hogs.

☞ It is reported that a somewhat juvenile dandy said to a fair partner at a ball—"Miss, don't you think my moustaches becoming?" To which Miss replied—"Well, sir, they may be coming, but they haven't yet arrived."

☞ The postage collected in the State of South Carolina for the last year amounted to $91,600. The cost of transporting the mails was $192,316. In Massachusetts the same year, the receipts were $582,184, and the expenses $153,091.

☞ Four years ago, in consequence of a fierce snow storm, the Presidential Electors in Wisconsin were unable to reach the State Capital till the day after that prescribed by law, and the vote of that State was not counted. Greater care will be advisable this time.

☞ The ninth of November is to be a great day in the future, as we learn from the Charleston News of the 10th: The ringing of the bells and the booming of the cannon yesterday from the eastern and western sections of our city, reminds us of the Fourth of July, as it should, for it was the dawn of our Independence day.

☞ The Raleigh (N. C.) Standard throws out suggestions that the grand object of those who are now creating such a turmoil in the Cotton States is not to produce a secession, either now or after Mr. Lincoln's inauguration, but to create a panic among slaveholders of the border States, so that they may be induced to part with their negroes at a great sacrifice.

☞ Harper Proscribed.—The Charleston Mercury makes the following announcement:—We learn that on Friday all the book houses in this city, who have heretofore sold Harper's Weekly and Monthly publications, closed their accounts with the publishers, and returned the copies on hand. The last number of the Weekly opened with a biographical sketch and full length portrait of Abe Lincoln, the illustrious rail-splitter.

☞ Rev. Dr. Wise, of Cincinnati, having been twice annoyed, but not robbed, by burglars, has issued the following notice:—"The thieves who, last Friday night, broke into our office for the second time, are politely requested to do so no more, as we feel heartily ashamed for any deceit thief to see how very poor we are. Tell us beforehand your intention to pay us a visit, and we shall place some change somewhere within reach, to save the credit of the establishment."

☞ A Corpse Hung.—Levi Durbin, formerly of Davenport, Iowa, was hung at Pike's Peak, a short time since by the vigilance committee, for stealing mules. When he learned that the committe was after him, he got some comrades to lay him out after the manner of a corpse—he figuring stark dead. One of the vigilant boys was left to watch at a convenient place to see whether it was a ruse or not, and soon the corpse took to itself legs. He was then arrested and hung.

Attention is called to this most remarkable and scientific preparation, advertised in another column. It is an entirely new discovery, and must not be confounded with any of the numerous patent medicines of the day. It is a certain remedy for all the diseases specified, and especially those of a chronic nature—of long standing—of weeks, months, and years. Sufferers, try it!

Messrs. CHURCH & DUPONT, of New York, are the sole agents for it, and also proprietors of the world-renowned Dr. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, an article which every Mother should have in her medicine closet in case of need; and containing, as it does, no paregoric or opiate of any kind, it can be relied upon with the utmost confidence, and will be found an invaluable specific in all cases of Infantile Complaints.—Ohio State Journal, Columbus. ☞ See advertisement.

COMMON SENSE rules the mass of the people, whatever the misnamed and misanthrope philosophers may say to the contrary. Show them a good thing; let its merit be clearly demonstrated, and they will not hesitate to give it their most cordial patronage. The masses have already ratified the judgment of a physician, concerning the virtues of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, as may be seen by the immense quantities of this medicine which are annually sold in every section of the land. It is now recognized as greatly superior to all other remedies yet devised for diseases of the digestive organs, such as diarrhœa, dysentery, dyspepsia, and for the various fevers that arise from derangement of those portions of the system. Hostetter's name is rapidly becoming a household word, from Maine to Texas, from the shores of the Atlantic to the Pacific. Try the article and be satisfied.

LOCAL ITEMS.

☞ We copy with pleasure the following which we find in the Pittsburgh Gazette of the 17th inst. The success which has crowned the efforts of the principal, Rev. I. C. Pershing, is a sufficient proof of his qualifications. We know of no institution of the kind in the country which we can more cheerfully recommend to parents and guardians who have daughters or wards to educate. Send for a catalogue. The Gazette says:

PITTSBURGH FEMALE COLLEGE.—The fall term of this popular institution will close on Tuesday, the 27th inst. During the day the usual examinations will take place, and in the evening the young ladies will give a literary entertainment. The last term has been the most successful in the history of the College. Such has been the increasing popularity of the institution that it has become somewhat difficult to accommodate all who attend. Nor is this popularity confined to Pittsburgh. While it has grown rapidly in favor here, its good name has gone abroad. Louisianna, Iowa, Illinois, Ohio, New Jersey, Virginia and other States have sent their representatives. Among the causes that has contributed to this result are, the energy and activity of the President, Rev. I. C. Pershing, A. M., who is determined that no similar institution shall excel it; the superior advantages offered; the ability of the Faculty and the healthfulness of Pittsburgh. One point deserves special attention. The stockholders are men of means, who invested their money, not for personal profit, but to have an institution of the highest grade in our own city. The tuition fees, instead of being appropriated to individual purposes, are used to promote the interests and advancement of its patrons and pupils. There is no temptation, therefore, to take an inferior teacher because she can be had at a lower price, or to employ less than are really necessary. Every department is provided for. It is not an institution for private gain, but pays all its teachers and professors fixed salaries. Owing to this fact, and its large patronage, the Trustees are enabled to employ an unusually large, able and experienced Faculty. Whatever profits may accrue are returned to the patrons in the superior advantages afforded over smaller schools, or those established for private gain only.

A fine Philosophical and Chemical apparatus, selected by a gentleman of experience, has been recently purchased in Boston. Preliminary steps have also been taken to secure a Graduate's Gallery, in which will be placed the likeness of each class as it graduates; a gallery of fine paintings as models for the pupils in this department; a cabinet, &c. A system of prizes to be distributed at the end of the year, has also been adopted. And, as an additional stimulus, the next session will close with a Literary contest, the successful contestant to receive a silver cup.

We are requested to urge those who desire to enter to make early application, and especially those who wish to enter as boarders, as but few more boarders can be accommodated.

MAN KILLED.—On Tuesday morning last, Mr. A. Sloss, of Pittsburgh, flagman on the westward bound Fast Freight train, met with an accident at Kittanning Point which resulted in his death in about six hours afterwards. He was riding on the "pusher" of the train and when it stopped at the Point he jumped off the engine, (intending to get on one of the cars of the train,) and not noticing that the Eastward stock trains were coming down the mountain, he jumped against the engine of the first train, which was then passing, by which he was struck on the side and face and knocked down between the tracks. His forehead was broken in and his face much mangled. He was brought to this place and medical aid summoned, but his injuries were such that aid could be of no avail, and after lingering in much misery, for about 6 hours, death came to his relief. He leaves a wife and one child.

THANKSGIVING.—We frequently hear this festival spoken of as if it were a fast day—a religious occasion for self-denial and humiliation.—Such is not the design. It is a feast day—a day of rejoicing and thankfulness for the many blessings we enjoy. The custom of appointing Thanksgiving Day was an early New England one, and spread over the other States. The first Thanksgiving day in Pennsylvania was appointed by the beloved and lamented Governor Shunk. Now it is a regular institution of the State, almost universally observed by our people. Arrangements having been made, the different congregations of this place will meet at the Presbyterian Church at 10½ o'clock, A. M., where an address appropriate to the occasion will be delivered. The public schools will meet at the Methodist church in the afternoon for the purpose of hearing an address.

IMPURE WATER.—Set a pitcher of water in a room, and in a few hours it will have absorbed nearly all the respired and perspired gasses in the room, the air of which will have become purer, but the water utterly filthy. The colder the water is, the greater its capacity to contain these gasses. At ordinary temperatures a pint of water will contain a pint of carbonic acid gas, and several pints of ammonia. This capacity is nearly doubled by reducing the water to the temperature of that of ice. Hence water, kept in the room awhile, is always unfit for use. For the same reason, the water in a pump stock should all be pumped out in the morning before any is used. Impure water is more injurious to the health than impure air.

"Extracts from the minutes."

☞ If our patrons imagine that we are going to take many excuses for not publishing a paper last week, they are mistaken. Our only excuse is that we had a harvest of job work, which pays better than printing a newspaper, and which was of a kind that could not be delayed, so we attended to it first. We, not our subscribers, lose by laying our paper over a week, as we make up the year if it takes us thirteen months to do it, consequently they should not complain if we do not; and besides, those only who have paid in advance have a right to complain, and to them we make this apology.

TO BE HUNG.—Cathcart, convicted recently in Clearfield county of murder in the first degree, for killing his wife, was on Thursday last sentenced to be hung, the motion for a new trial having been overruled. Our readers will probably recollect that this murder was committed near Junesville, a few miles from this place. It created some excitement at the time, and the feelings of the whole community were decidedly against him. He alleges that he shot her accidently.—Star.

HEENAN ABOUT.—John C. Heenan, the champion nose-smasher and eye-bunger passed through this place on Friday morning last, on his way to the West to exhibit his proficiency in his line. As a matter of course the news of his arrival spread rapidly, and there was soon a large crowd at the depot to get a look at him. He was accompanied by Aaron Jones and other lesser lights in the fistic arena.

A. S. S. A.—The Altoona Sabbath School Association will meet in the basement of the United Brethren Church, on Friday evening, December 7th, at 7 o'clock. Several interesting addresses will be delivered. Friends of the Sunday School cause are invited to attend.

WM. C. McCORMICK,
Chairman.

LARGE TURNIP.—We were shown, a few evenings since, a turnip which measured 24 inches in circumference, 4 inches in depth, and weighed 7lbs, 7oz. It was raised upon the farm of Mr. Martin Bell, at Elizabeth Furnace, in this county. Can any farmer in this section beat it?

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE AMALGAMATION OF LANGUAGES.—There is a growing tendency in this age to appropriate the most expressive words of other languages, and after a while to incorporate them into our own; thus the word Cephalic, which is from the Greek, signifying "for the head," is now becoming popularized in connection with Mr. Spalding's great Headache remedy, but it will soon be used in a more general way, and the word Cephalic will become as common as Electrotype and many others whose distinction as foreign words has been worn away by common usage until they seem "native and to the manor born."

'ardly Realized.

'Hi 'ad 'n 'orrible 'eadache this afternoon, hand I stopped into the hapothecaries hand says hi to the man, "Can you 'lease me of an 'eadache?" "Does it hache 'ard" says 'e. "Hexceedingly," says hi, hand upon that 'e gave me a Cephalic Pill, hand 'pon me 'onor it cured me so quick that I 'ardly realized I 'ad 'ad an 'eadache.

☞ Headache is the favorite sign by which nature makes known any deviation whatever from the natural state of the brain, and viewed in this light it may be looked on as a safeguard intended to give notice of disease which might otherwise escape attention, till too late to be remedied; and its indications should never be neglected. Headaches may be classified under two names, viz: Symptomatic and Idopathic. Symptomatic Headache is exceedingly common and is the precursor of a great variety of diseases, among which are Apoplexy, Gout, Rheumatism and all febrile diseases. In its nervous form it is sympathetic of disease of the stomach constituting sick headache, of hepatic disease constituting bilious headache, of worms, constipation and other disorders of the bowels, as well as renal and uterine affections. Diseases of the heart are very frequently attended with Headaches: Anæmia and plethora are also affections which frequently occasion headache. Idopathic Headache is also very common, being unusually distinguished by the name of nervous headache, sometimes coming on suddenly in a state of apparently sound health and prostrating at once the mental and physical energies, and in other instances it comes on slowly, heralded by depression of spirits or acerbity of temper. In most instances the pain is in the front of the head over one or both eyes, and sometimes provoking vomiting; under this class may also be named Neuralgia.

For the treatment of either class of Headache the Cephalic Pills have been found a sure and safe remedy, relieving the most acute pains in a few minutes, and by its subtle power eradicating the diseases of which Headache is the unerring index.

BRIDGET.—MISSUS wants you to send her a box of Cephalic Glue, no, a bottle of Prepared Pills,—but I'm thinking that's not just it neither; but perhaps you'll be afther knowing what it is. Ye see she's nigh dead and gone with the Sick Headache, and wants some more of that same as relaived her before.

Druggist.—You must mean Spalding's Cephalic Pills.

Bridget.—Och! sure now and you've sed it, here's the quarther and give me the Pills and don't be all day about it aither.

Constipation of Costiveness.

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Costiveness. Often originating in carelessness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of too little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and companion of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Colic, Rheumatism, Foul Breath, Piles and others of like nature, while a long train of frightful diseases such as Malignant Fevers, Abcesses, Dysentary, Diarrhœa, Dyspepsia, Apoplexy, Paralysis, Paralysis, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melancholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by this alarming sympton. Not unfrequently the disease named originate in Constipation, but take on an independent existence unless the cause is eradicated in an early stage. From all these considerations it follows that the disorder should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and no person should neglect to get a box of Cephalic Pills on the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insidious approaches of disease and destroy this dangerous foe to human life.

A Real Blessing.

Physician,—Well, Mrs. Jones, how is that headache?

Mrs. Jones.—Gone! Doctor, all gone! the pill you sent cured me in just twenty minutes. I wish you would send more so that I can have them handy.

Physician.—You can get them at any Druggist. Call for Cephalic Pills. I find they never fail, and I recommend them in all cases of Headache.

Mrs. Jones.—I shall send for a box directly, and shall tell all my suffering friends, for they are a real blessing.

TWENTY MILLIONS OF DOLLARS SAVED.—Mr. Spalding has sold two millions of bottles of his celebrated Prepared Glue and it is estimated that each bottle saves at least ten dollars worth of broken furniture, thus making an aggregate of twenty millions of dollars reclaimed from total loss by this valuable invention. Having made his Glue a household word, he now proposes to do the world still greater service by curing all the aching heads with his Cephalic Pills, and if they are as good as his Glue, Headaches will soon vanish away like snow in July.

☞ Over excitement, and the mental care and anxiety incident to close attention to business or study, are among the numerous causes of Nervous Headache. The disordered state of mind and body incident to this distressing complaint is a fatal blow to all energy and ambition. Sufferers by this disorder can always obtain speedy relief from these distressing attacks by using one of the Cephalic Pills whenever the symptoms appear. It quiets the overtasked brain, and soothes the strained and jarring nerves, and relaxes the tension of the stomach which always accompanies and aggravates the disordered condition of the brain.

FACT WORTH KNOWING.—Spalding's Cephalic Pills are a certain cure for Sick Headache, Bilious Headache Nervous Headache, Costiveness and General Debility.

GREAT DISCOVERY.—Among the most important of all the great medical discoveries of this age may be considered the system of vaccination for protection from Small Pox, the Cephalic Pill for relief of Headache, and the use Quinine for the prevention of Fevers, either of which is a sure specific, whose benefits will be experienced by suffering humanity long after their discoverers are forgotten.

☞ Did you ever have the Sick Headache? Do you remember the throbbing temples, the fevered brow, the loathing and disgust at the sight of food. How totally unfit you were for pleasure, conversation or study. One of the Cephalic Pills would have relieved you from all the suffering which you then experienced. For this and other purpose you should always have a box of them on hand to use as occasion requires.

All kinds of

By the use of these Pills the periodic attacks of Nervous or sick Headache may be prevented; and if taken at the commencement of an attack immediate relief from pain and sickness will be obtained.

They seldom fail in removing the Nausea and Headache to which females are so subject.

They act gently upon the bowels,—removing Costiveness.

For Literary Men, Students, Delicate Females, and all persons of sedentary habits, they are valuable as a Laxative, improving the appetite, giving tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and restoring the natural elasticity and strength of the whole system.

The CEPHALIC PILLS are the result of long investigation and carefully conducted experiments, having been in use many years, during which time they have prevented and relieved a vast amount of pain and suffering from Headache, whether originating in the nervous system or from a deranged state of the stomach.

They are entirely vegetable in their composition, and may be taken at all times with pefect safety without making any change of diet, and the absence of any disagreeable taste renders it easy to administer them to children.

I beg leave to call the attention of the citizens of the United States to the above Wines and Liquors, imported by UDOLPHO WOLFE, of New York, whose name is familiar in every part of this country for the purity of his celebrated SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS. Mr. Wolfe, in his letter to me, speaking of the purity of his Wines and Liquors, says: "I will stake my reputation as a man, my standing as a merchant of thirty years' residence in the city of New York, that all the Brandy and Wines which I bottle are pure as imported, and of the best quality, and can be relied upon by every purchaser." Every bottle has the proprietor's name on the wax, and a fac simile of his signature of the certificate.—The public are respectfully invited to call and examine for themselves. Sole Agent for Philadelphia.

Read the following from the New York Courier:

ENORMOUS BUSINESS FOR ONE NEW YORK MERCHANT.—We are happy to inform our fellow-citizens that there is one place in our city where the physician, apothecary, and country merchant, can go and purchase pure Wines and Liquors, as pure as imported, and of the best quality. We do not intend to give an elaborate description of this merchant's extensive business, although it will well repay any stranger or citizen to visit Udolpho Wolfe's extensive warehouse, Nos. 18, 20 and 22, Beaver street, and Nos. 17, 19 and 21, Marketfield street. His stock of Schnapps on hand ready for shipment could not have been less than thirty thousand cases; the Brandy, some ten thousand cases—Vintages of 1826 to 1856; and ten thousand cases of Madeira, Sherry and Port Wine, Scotch and Irish Whiskey, Jamaica and St. Croix Rum, some very old and equal to any in this country. He also had three large cellars, filled with Brandy, Wine, &c., in casks, under Custom-House key, ready for bottling. Mr. Wolfe's sales of Schnapps last year amounted to one hundred and eighty thousand dozen, and we hope in less than two years he may be equally successful with his Brandies and Wines.

His business merits the patronage of every lover of his species. Private families who wish pure Wines and Liquors for medical use should send their orders direct to Mr. Wolfe, until every Apothecary in the land make up their minds to discard the poisonous stuff from their shelves, and replace it with Wolfe's pure Wines and Liquors.

We understand that Mr. Wolfe, for the accommodation of small dealers in the country, puts up assorted cases of Wines and Liquors. Such a man, and such a merchant, should be sustained against his tens of thousands of opponents in the United States, who sell nothing but imitations, ruinous alike to human health and happiness.

HAIR OILS, COLOGNES, POMades, Shaving Cream, Toilet Soaps, &c. for sale by C. W. KESSLER.

PROF. L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR!!

AN EFFECTIVE, SAFE AND ECONOMICAL COMPOUND.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR to its original color without dyeing, and preventing the hair from turning gray.

FOR PREVENTING BALDNESS, and curing it, when there is the least particle of vitality or recuperative energy remaining.

FOR REMOVING SCURF AND DANDRUFF, and all cutaneous affections at the Scalp.

FOR BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR, imparting to it an unequalled gloss and brilliancy, making it soft and silky in its texture and causing it to curl readily.

The great celebrity and the increasing demand for this unequalled preparation, convince the proprietor that one trial is only necessary to satisfy a discerning public of its superior qualities over any other preparation at present in use. It cleanses the head and scalp from all dandruff and other cutaneous diseases, causes the hair to grow luxuriently, and gives it a rich, soft, glossy flexible appearance, and also where the hair is loosening and thining, it will give strength and vigor to the roots, and restore the growth to those parts which have become bald, causing it to yield a fresh covering of hair.

There are hundreds of ladies and gentlemen in New York who have had their hair restored by the use of this Invigorator, when all other preparations had failed. L. M. has in his possession letters innumerable testifying to the above facts, from persons of the highest respectability. It will effectually prevent the hair from turning gray until the latest period of life; and in cases where the hair has already changed its color, the use of the Invigorator will with certainty restore it to its original hue, giving it a dark, glossy appearance. As a perfume for the toilet and a Hair Restorative it is particularly recommended, having an agreeable fragrance; and the great facilities it affords in dressing the hair, which, when moist with this Invigorator can be dressed in any required form so as to preserve its place, whether plain or in curls—hence the great demand for it by the ladies as a standard toilet article which none ought to be without, as the price places it within the reach of all, being.

per bottle, to be had at all respectable druggists and perfumers.

L. MILLER would call the attention of Parents and Guardians to the use of the Invigorator, in cases where the childrens' Hair inclines to be weak. The use of it lays the foundation for a good head of hair, as it removes any impurities that may have become connected with the scalp, the removal of which is necessary both for the health of the child, and the future appearance of its Hair.

CAUTION.—None genuine without the fac simile LOUIS MILLER being on the outer wrapper; also, L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR, N. Y. blown in the glass.

Wholesale Depot, 56 Dey St., and sold by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the world.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity.

I also desire to present to the American Public my

New and Improved Instantaneous

MEDICATED FUR CHEST PROTECTOR, A SAFE SHIELD AGAINST THOSE fearful diseases Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and other affections of the Lugs, which arise from the exposed state of the chest, according to fashion and the continual changes of out dresses, for sale at the Drug Store of G. W. KESSLER.

MOFFAT'S
LIFE PILLS and PHŒNIX BITTERS.

THESE MEDICINES HAVE NOW been before the public for a period of thirty years, and during that time have maintained a high character in almost every part of the globe, for their extraordinary and immediate power of restoring perfect health to persons suffering under nearly every kind of disease to which the human frame is liable.

The following are among the distressing variety of human diseases in which the

are well known to be infallible:

DYSPEPSIA, by thoroughly cleansing the first and second stomachs, and creating a flow of pure, healthy bile, instead of the stale and acrid kind; FLATULENCY, Loss or Appetite, Heartburn, Headache, Restlessness, Ill Temper, Anxiety, Langour, and Melancholy, which are the general symptoms of Dyspepsia, will vanish, as a natural consequence of its cure.

COSTIVENESS, by cleansing the whole length of the intestines with a solvent process, and without violence; all violent purges leave the bowels costive within two days.

FEVERS of all kinds, by restoring the blood to a regular circulation; through the process of respiration in such cases, and the thorough solution of all intestinal obstruction in others.

The Life Medicines have been known to cure RHEUMATISM permanently in three weeks, and GOUT in half that time, by removing local inflammation from the muscles and ligaments of the joints.

DROPSIES of all kinds, by freeing and strengthening the kidneys and bladder; they operate most delightfully on these important organs, and hence have ever been found a certain remedy for the worst cases of GRAVEL.

Also WORMS, by dislodging from the turnings of the bowels the slimy matter to which these creatures adhere.

SCURVY, ULCERS, and INVETERATE SORES, by the perfect purity which these LIFE MEDICINES give to the blood, and all the humors.

SCORBUTIC ERUPTIONS and BAD COMPLEXIONS, by their alterative effect upon the fluids that feed the skin, and the morbid state of which occasions all eruptive complaints, sallow, cloudy, and other disagreeable complexions.

The use of these Pills for a very short time will effect an entire cure of SALT RHEUM, and a striking improvement in the clearness of the skin. COMMON COLDS and INFLUENZA will always be cured by one dose, or by two in the worst cases.

PILES.—The original proprietor of these medicines, was cured of Piles, of 35 years standing, by the use of the Life Medicines alone.

FEVER & AGUE.—For this scourge of the Western country, these medicines will be found a safe, speedy, and certain remedy. Other medicines leave the system subject to a return of the disease—a cure by these medicines is permanent—try them, be satisfied, and be cured.

BILLIOUS FEVERS are LIVER COMPLAINTS.—General debility, loss of appetite and diseases of females—the medicines have been used with the most beneficial results in cases of this description:—Kings Evil and Scrofula; in its worst forms, yields to the mild yet powerful action of these remarkable Medicines. Night Sweats, Nervous Debility, Nervous Complaints of all kinds. Palpitation of the Heart, Painters' Colic, are speedily cured.

MERCURIAL DISEASES.—Persons whose constitutions have become impaired by the injudicious use of Mercury, will find these medicines a perfect cure, as they never fail to eradicate from the system all the effects of Mercury, in finitely sooner than the most powerful preparation of Sarsaparilla.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN COOKING STOVES.
CONSUMPTION OF SMOKE AND GAS AND SAVING OF FUEL.

The subscriber takes pleasure in offering to the public NEW GAS AND SMOKE CONSUMING Cooking Stove, recently patented, which is destined to supercede all others, as it requires than other stoves and is more easily, quickly and regularly heated. No unpleasant smell of gas arises from this stove from the fact that it is all consumed ere it can escape. There is no trouble from smoke as that unpleasant and often annoying exhalation is also consumed inside of the stove. Neither is there any danger of flues or chimneys becoming clogged with soot or the mortar loosened by the gas arising from coal fires.

Persons wishing to purchase stoves are invited to call at the store of the subscriber, in the Masonic Temple, and examine the above stoves. JOHN SHOEMAKER.

HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS.

The proprietors and manufacturers of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS can appeal with perfect confidence to physicians and citizens generally of the United States, because the article has attained a reputation heretofore unknown. A few facts upon this point will speak more powerfully than volumes of bare assertion or blazoning puffery. The consumption of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for the last year amounted to over a half-million bottles, and from its manifest steady increase in times past, it is evident that during the coming year the consumption will reach near one million bottles. This immense amount could never have been sold but for the rare medicinal properties contained in the preparation, and the sanction of the most prominent physicians in those sections of the country where the article is best known, who not only recommend the Bitters to their patients, but are ready at all times to give testimonials to its efficacy in all cases of stomachic derangements and the diseases resulting therefrom.

This is not a temporary popularity, obtained by extraordinary efforts in the way of trumpeting the qualities of the Bitters, but a solid estimation of an invaluable medicine, which is destined to be as enduring as time itself.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have proved a Godsend to regions where fever and ague and various other bilious complaints have counted their victims by hundreds. To be able to state confidently that the "Bitters" are a certain cure for the Dyspepsia and like diseases, is to the proprietors a source of unalloyed pleasure. It removes all morbid matter from the stomach, purifies the blood, and imparts renewed vitality to the nervous system, giving it that tone and energy indispensable for the restoration of health. It operates upon the stomach, liver, and other digestive organs, mildly but powerfully, and soon restores them to a condition essential to the healthy discharge of the functions of nature.

Elderly persons may use the Bitters daily as per directions on the bottle, and they will find in it a stimulant peculiarly adapted to comfort declining years, as it is pleasant to the palate, invigorating to the bowels, excellent as a tonic, and rejuvenating generally. We have the evidence of thousands of aged men and women who have experienced the benefit of using this preparation while suffering from stomach derangements and general debility; acting under the advice of physicians, they have abandoned all deleterious drugs and fairly tested the merits of this article. A few words to the gentler sex. There are certain periods when their cares are so harassing that many of them sink under the trial. The relation of mother and child is so absorbingly tender, that the mother, especially if she be young, is apt to forget her own health in her extreme anxiety for her infant. Should the period of maternity arrive during the summer season, the wear of body and mind is generally aggravated. Here, then, is a necessity for a stimulant to recuperate the energies of the system, and enable the mother to bear up under her exhausting trials and responsibilities. Nursing mothers generally prefer the Bitters to all other invigorators that receive the endorsement of physicians, because it is agreeable to the taste as well as certain to give a permanent increase of bodily strength.

All those persons, to whom we have particularly referred above, to wit: sufferers from fever and ague, caused by malaria, diarrhœa, dysentery, indigestion, loss of appetite, and all diseases or derangements of the stomach, supernaturated invalids, persons of sedentary occupation, and nursing mothers, will consult their own physical welfare by giving to Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters a trial.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.
